

D.I.C.

More D.I.C. for your pleasure

D.I.C.

How do you explain that a top global IT company employs exactly two lonely IT techs and how did the President of the company end up in jail ... in Thailand?

Maybe D.I.C. is not at all what it seems...

In reality, D.I.C. brings non-FDA approved drugs & exotic supplements into the country taking advantage of the new homeopathic and natural remedy trend.

When ALFRED, President and co-founder of D.I.C., is thrown in jail, his wife PRISCILLA takes control of the business. While she thinks of herself as a smart business woman, she is actually completely clueless and has no idea what the company really does. She hates BOB, Alfred's party-loving brother, and her first order of business is to demote him to the "it" department.

Demoted, Bob joins MARIANA in the IT department. The dysfunctional geek is a computer genius but has zero social skills. At first wary of Bob, she grudgingly agrees to help him unlock the company's computer systems and regain control before Priscilla and her dim-witted assistant DIANA realize what D.I.C.'s true business is and Bob ends up in jail too!

PRISCILLA

Tammy Faye meets Edina

She is so out of touch with life: clueless about the world, about money, about technology, about running a business and especially about her husband's activities. She has diarrhea of the mouth, like a nervous tick she can't control. She's attempting to sound smart and in control but of course not even the "word of the day" calendar can keep her from screwing everything up.

She is financially panicked because she's living beyond her means and her husband is not here to cover her bills. Daddy's little princess turned trophy wife has no concept of what real life is. And now that Alfred is in jail, she must figure out how to keep the money flowing.

"Bigger is better"

BOB

Douglas Reynholm from The IT Crowd

Alfred's younger brother, Bob is a hip, cocky, party-goer, cool guy who was very happy to leave his brother in charge. But when Alfred ends up in jail and Priscilla in control of the company, Bob must step up to the task. It's not easy maintaining one step ahead of Priscilla and keep her in the dark. This situation makes for strange bed fellows between Bob and Mariana. He needs her sills and must learn to make friends with the awkward geek.

From the corner office to the basement; from head of sales to IT customer support, from fine dining to wrapped sandwiches at his desk, Bob will fake it until he can make it!

MARIANA

What if Sheldon was a young Latina cat lover...?

At first a little intimidated by Bob and terrified of Priscilla, Mariana slowly realizes she has the knowledge that Bob lacks to take back control of D.I.C.

When Bob catches her hacking into a dating site, he realizes he needs to gain her trust to access the company's computer system and retake control of the company. Socially awkward with mad computer skills, Mariana likes her new found power and is not beyond blackmailing Bob in order to gain popularity with the opposite sex.

"leave the pussies out of it!"

DIANA

She's Bubble with a nervous tick

Diana is not the sharpest tool in the shed. She is totally dysfunctional but quite likeable. She often uses random props like a pirate sword, a boa or fuzzy pens; it helps her cope. She tries very hard, but there's only so much she can handle.

She's a people pleaser who wants everybody to get along. She's happy to follow whoever is leading the never-ending parade of stupid that seems to surround her.

Insecure or oblivious, Diana never has the right answer but that has never stopped her from trying!
